

A running feed of stream of consciousness, in only emojis, projected for the whole audience (music fans, fans of the particular band) to view at the concert venue. Participate / be involved with the concert in a different way than just viewing it. Limiting the keyboard to emojis ensures that no one in the audience will get too offended (hopefully).